KBA SHOOTING RINGS

The basketball practice shooting rings instills good habits in players of all skill levels. It decreases the rim diameter to emphasize the importance of an arc in players' shots. This basketball shooting trainer reduces the diameter of the rim from 18" diameter to 14", 15" or 16" diameter and forces players to reconsider the depth of their shots. These practice shooting rings will make players shooting be more accurate to make a shot. The smaller, reduced size ring will significantly improve shooting accuracy which will make hitting shots on regulation rims that are 18" in size more.

Durable urethane mounts easily attach to shooting ring to the rim without harming it.

SHOOTING-T

To have a perfect shot requires you to shoot the basketball correctly. Use SHOOTING-T to develop the perfect shot. Use on a regular basis to get the fundamentals that every player needs to make good shots and develop proper shooting skills.

THE FOLLOW-THROUGH

The key to successful shooting is getting your body, elbow, arm, wrist, hand, & fingers on the ball in proper position. With all areas pointing toward the basket. The SHOOTING T develops the habit of always holding your position until the ball goes through the basket. Concentration of following through will also help you shoot with the elbow in, instead of “flying” out to the side.

IMPROVES DIRECTION

The follow-through check point (plastic T) will always have your wrists & fingers going toward your target. When you release the ball off your fingertips, your first two fingers should rest directly on the “SHOOTING T.” When they do, your direction will be perfect. This will also create backspin on the ball, giving you after shot.

DEVELOPS ARCH

A high, yet comfortable arch will greatly improve the chance of making a shot, not to mention the opportunity for a better bounce. The “SHOOTING T” will teach you to hold your follow through, develop a higher arch, thereby eliminating the short, flat shot.
